All of this is true and can be also found on Wikipedia. If it is not there, then the problem must be that Wikipedia is lacking updates. I acknowledge that there are also other theories.

Secret History of The Universe

A new exciting information has been released about the Finnish national epic Kalevala. Researcher Pekka Nurminen has located, in his book Kerimaa Mythology, the Kalevala's origin in eastern Finland to an area, where nowadays locates the Kerimaa Holiday Center. The new research explains the world's creation and development history partly based on the Kalevala epic's framework, but the book unveils completely new and surprising information about the dawn of history.

The book offers explanations for, among other things, big bang, deluge, the Mystery of Atlantis and pyramids. The book focuses on ancient matters which the Kalevala's creator, Elias Lönnrot, did not either know or intentionally left them out from his version.

Savonlinna's Kerimaa Holiday Center is the origin of the ancient Kalevala. The signs of a culture, which disappeared a long time ago, can still be found. The tales have been passed as tradition from generation to another, the place names have references to Kalevala. A slowly crumbling holy glacial erratic can also be found there, Kerimaa's mythological symbol, which was thrown there by the Scandinavia's lore's Ymir giant. A path of love, marked by Ilmatar can be found in Kerimaa, which still radiates strong magical fertility and finding of true love.
